

The beautiful Victorian house that Amy Masterson decides to rent, fully furnished, is more than just a place to start over with her young daughter. When Amy learns that the three-story house on Sugar Plum Lane belonged to her great-grandmother, Eleanor Rucker, who Amys mother had been searching for until her recent death, she hopes she can find a window into the past her mother never found. As Amy settles into Fairbrook, shes stunned to learn that Ellie Rucker still lives on Sugar Plum Lane, cared for by Amys neighbour, Maria. But Ellies mind is failing rapidly, her memories fading with each passing day. She shows no hint of recognition when her great-granddaughter introduces herself, and Amy is heartbroken at the chance theyve both missed. But its never too late to hope - or to trust in bonds of love that, though they cannot be seen, can never be broken.
